...Rich, almost savory and alluringly exotic. Dried apricot, peaches and pears come together with hints of candied ginger and wet stone to form a beguiling display. Its textures are remarkably soft, offset by stunning minerality and brisk acids while giving way to notes of yellow apple and hazelnut... gorgeous inner florals and lingering spice... It's a wild wine. -E.G.

A very interesting ribolla gialla that shows yellow apples, Asian pears, toffee-banana pie and gooseberry fool. Full-bodied and quite phenolic with plenty of dried-fruit flavors. Acidity holds this together and keeps it fresh on the finish. Made from an infusion of fully mature grapes in already fermented grape juice. – J.S.
