The 2018... has turned out very nicely, unwinding in the glass with aromas of smoke, orange zest, iodine, pear, freshly baked bread and buttered toast. Medium to full-bodied, satiny and enveloping, it's lively and gourmand, with fine depth at the core and a nicely defined finish. – W.K.

Sleek and supple in its fleshy yellow plum and orange flavors, this has a buzz of youthful acidity, lasting on spice notes of cumin and cardamom. From a vineyard just below Bâtard-Montrachet, this is the sort of toasty and generous wine many New World chardonnay growers set out to emulate. – T.T.
