DECEMBER 2001

The botrytis and apricot-scented 2000 Pinot Gris Vendanges Tardives has an elegant, medium-bodied character crammed with white peaches. This focused, extremely well-balanced, and silky-textured wine is powerful, yet delicate. –P.R.

Toast and botrytis aromas come through on this beautifully crafted wine. There is acidity balancing the ripeness. This sophisticated, elegant wine has as much sweetness as fruit. The finish is fresh and crisp. – R.V.

NOVEMBER 2003

Fruit-driven aromas of marmalade and honey. Dense, fat and sweet, with intense apricot and spice flavors perked up by some unabsorbed CO2. Finishes clean and long, with lovely lingering sweetness of fruit. – S.T.

OCTOBER 2006

Big, broad and caramel-tinged, this is soft, but not heavy. Dried apricot and pear pick up a citrus peel note on the finish. Lacks a little liveliness, but will work well with fruit tarts and cheeses. – B.S.
