

TREROSE

TUSCANY, ITALY

The TREROSE estate is located in a picturesque 16th century Tuscan villa, Villa Romizi, on the hills of Valiano di Montepulciano. 103 hectares of vines are planted on five sloped vineyards, rich in different soils and exposures, that fan into an amphi-theater shape. Precision Viticulture is practiced, whereby each vine's location is recorded and categorized per the soil type it grows in. When harvested, grapes that grow in the same soil type get vinified together. This painstaking practice allows TREROSE to exploit the diversity that their vineyards enjoy.

- TREROSE is located near the historic Tuscan town of Montepulciano, in the prestigious appellation of Vino Nobile di Montepulciano DOGG.
- The estate's commitment to Sangiovese, locally called Prugnolo, its unique terroir and its precise viticultural and vinification techniques culminate in the production of distinctive, high quality wines.
- The Vino Nobile production zone is positioned on a hilly ridge between Val di Chiana and Val d'Orcia at altitudes between 820 and 1900 feet.
- As part of Angelini Wines & Estates, TREROSE enjoys the combined resources and winemaking expertise of its parent company, while maintaining complete autonomy for the stylistic direction of the wines. Angelini Wines & Estates was founded in January 2014, encompassing distinctive wineries across Italy.
