Aromas of toast, vanilla, preserved peach and caramel are heady here, lending flair to orange cream and honey on the palate. It's rich and unctuous, silky in texture, but fringed by pleasing bitters. A beauty already... — A.I.

This is archetypal Condrieu, from the heady wildflower scents to the silky, honeyed apricot flavors. For all its gentle ripeness, it's also brisk, with an airy, expansive feel. — T.T

Ripe citrus and pit fruit scents... suggestions of orange zest and violet... Pear and white peach flavors that are sharpened and braced by a spine of juicy acidity. Displays excellent clarity and lift on the lingering finish... — J.R.

Super-bright, attractive apricots with very pure, pristine and nicely judged ripeness. The texture is like silk. Deeply flavorsome peaches and apricots here. Handy balance. Drink or hold. — J.S.

A lush, corpulent style, with warm brioche, banana, heather, apricot and warmed pear flavors that glide slowly through a toasty finish. Drink now. — J.M.
