POINTS

OCTOBER 2021

...A beautifully elegant and streamlined wine that reflects the precision and careful winemaking that is a hallmark of the Planeta family... Fine and nuanced aromas of wild berry, cassis and rose. Etched mineral notes and light spice frame a core of pretty fruit... A classic Etna red that can be stretched out to a 10-year drinking window...or enjoy this bottle straight out of the gate. – M.L.

Delicately fragrant and poised, this focused red offers enticing scents suggesting wild rose, red berries, wet stone and a whiff of flinty mineral. Hailing from extremely high-altitude vineyards, the linear, ethereal palate features tart sour cherry, pomegranate, white pepper and saline alongside racy acidity. Lithe tannins lend polished support.. –K.O.

As if you can smell the ashen volcanic soils that these vines grow in, the 2018 Nerello Mascalese Eruzione 1614 wafts up smoky and musky, with a complement of cherry and dried strawberry that fully completes the experience. This is soft and fleshy in feel, boasting a noticeable inner sweetness nicely balanced by brisk acids and pretty inner floral.... – E.G.
