APRIL 2024

The nose is full of citrus notes that oscillate between sweeter and more conventionally sour, before a stoniness comes through as an anchor. The palate adds a floral, almost soapy element to the wave of citrus that has yet to break, and then finally gives way to a bitter, nutty finish, reinforced with acid. —D.C.

JUNE 2022

...Wafts up with a perfumed bouquet of sour melon, exotic flowers and wet stone. This is savory in style, mineral to the core, nearly salty and chalky, with zesty acids that energize its notes of nectarine and lemon oil. The 2021 finishes long, crisp and floral, leaving hints of tart citrus to linger... — E.G.
