SEPTEMBER 2017

...Bright, juicy and dense... penetrating juiciness to the stone fruit and herbal flavors. Finishes multifayered and very long, displaying noteworthy clarity and limy cut on the saline finish... A real knockout in the making... very ageworthy and also lovely to drink right now... – I.D.

AUGUST 2019

The lemon-sherbet note here is really beautiful... Herbs, ranging from thyme to parsley, with a touch of sea salt... cherries and almond blossom. The powerful acidity seems to surround the whole mouth and makes this almost like licking a lemon; the unmistakable dryness is all the more enjoyable because of it. Long and every elegant on the finish.... – J.S.

NOVEMBER 2023

This shows signs of development, with very subtle notes of beeswax and white truffle, but its core is packed with juicy Korean pear, lemon verbena, and orange zest. Crackling acidity holds the firm structure, while sea-salt notes add to the intrigue. It ends with a lip-smacking finish.—A.Z.

MARCH 2023

...Reveals a clear, bright and slightly flinty bouquet with citrus aromas and delicate intensity. Round and elegant on the palate, this is a powerful, intense and complex cuvée with persistent salinity and remarkable phenolic structure...This is a rather crystalline and filigreed Frédéric Emile... --S.R.
